NEWS OF KANSAS.

Leavenworth Electric Railway to Be Sold Today.

Reno Odd Fellows Lodge at Hutchinson Suspended.

OTHER STATE NEWS.

A New Bank Has Been Started at Hoisington.

LEAVENWORTH, June 2.—The Leavenworth Electric railway will be sold at receiver's sale at the south front door of the court house today. W. C. Hook of this city is special master in chancery and will act as auctioneer. The property will go to the highest bidder for cash in hand.

The sale is a formality which must be observed to take the road out of the hands of the receiver. It is a sort of clearance, as it were, of the property, and puts it on a new footing. The man or men who purchase it will start out with no complications. It will be like selling out a mortgaged stock of goods and starting in new.

The property has been appraised at $80,000, and the minimum sum it may be sold for is $65,000. Those who know something about the value of the road say it ought to sell for not less than $75,000. At that price it is considered an excellent investment. Already it has been demonstrated that the system is a money maker and promises to become immediately popular with all classes.

KENO LODGE SUSPENDED.

The Hutchinson Odd Fellows' Lodge Disciplined For Prosecuting Grand Lodge. HUTCHINSON, June 2.—The grand master of the lodge of Odd Fellows of Kansas suspended Reno Lodge No. 99, for her course in prosecuting the grand lodge, and for refusing to pay the Orphans' home assessment.

Keno lodge, though, does not propose to let the matter go that way, and is getting ready to make another fight.

BANK OF ENTERPRISE FAILURE.

Additional Facts in Regard to Its Condition and the Losers. ENTERPRISE, June 2.—Full particulars in regard to the Bank of Enterprise, which has just been closed, have now been made public. The late C. M. Case was its cashier and manager. There was no president; J. M. Van Nostrand is vice president. In January 1893, it had $14,000 deposits, with assets worth at face value $185,000. When closed its deposits were only $4,000. There is other indebtedness of about $14,000. Assets are abundant nominally but actually will probably realize but little.

The loss will fall mostly on eastern stockholders, although the fact that during its prosperous years the bank paid large dividends, will to some extent lessen their grief. The heaviest local loser is Dr. A. G. Eyth, who had about $700 in the bank. Charles Rennecker, adjudged insane two weeks ago, had $450 in the bank. A receiver will be appointed in a few days.

J. M. Van Nostrand, a leading dealer in general merchandise, was closed under a chattel mortgage held by the bank.

GOING TO THE NORTH POLE.

Prof. Dyche of the State University Going on an Arctic Expedition.

LAWRENCE, June 2.—Prof. L. L. Dyche of the university, has left with his family for Chicago. After stopping for a few days to get his family settled to spend the summer, Prof. Dyche will join a party of forty professors and others in the east who sail from New York, June 25, to make a trip to the north pole. The expedition of which Prof. Dyche is appointed "official naturalist," will visit all prominent points in the arctic regions and expects to reach the Peary headquarters July 20.

Prof. Dyche goes to complete his already wonderful collection of North American mammals.

LEAVES LEAVENWORTH.

Bennett's Army Started Out of There for Kansas City on Foot.

LEAVENWORTH, June 2.—"General" Bennett and his industrial "army," comprising about ninety men, have left Leavenworth on foot, the boat scheme having fallen through. The citizens were not liberal enough to donate the money necessary to purchase the scow, so Bennett concluded his game was all off here.

In front of Mrs. Eva Blackman's business office on Cherokee street the "army" halted and gave three cheers for her. Mrs. Blackman assisted the "army" in various ways while it was here.

Lewellyn, the engineer of the Sanders "arms," was released from jail on bond yesterday, but still the "army" is not ready to move.

CARRIED OFF A LITTLE GIRL.

Fort Scott People Hunting for a Man Who Took Away a Girl. FORT SCOTT, June 2.—As the little seven-year-old daughter of George Fuqua was playing a little distance from the house a young fellow named George Jones passed by and picked her up in his arms, carrying her over into the woods near by.

The little girl became frightened, however, and began to scream. This attracted the attention of several boys who were working near. The young man carried the little girl a short distance farther, but finally released her and ran north into the deep woods of Mill creek.

In a short time there were over fifty men on the hunt for him. But up to the present time no trace of him has been found. It is thought he may go out to Nevada, Mo., Parsons or Great Bend, Kan., to all of which points messages have been sent.

Lawrence's New Ice Factory.

LAWRENCE, June 2.—The building for the Griffin & Underwood Ice Manufacturing is almost completed and will be ready for occupancy in a few days. The building is being erected by Contractor Shaw at a cost of $1,500, and the machinery which is already here cost $11,000. The daily output of the plant will be eight tons and the ice will be made from distilled water and will be chemically pure.

Two Dailies at Cherryvale.

CHERRYVALE, June 2.—Cherryvale has another daily paper, the Daily Republican, published by E. L. Eaton. Notwithstanding the name adopted for his paper, Mr. Eaton states in his salutatory that he will not discuss political questions. The Republican is a five-column folio, neatly gotten up, and full of good reading, but two dailies are perhaps more than Cherryvale can support.

Blew His Head Off.

HOLTON, June 2.—A man by the name of Marks, living near St. Clare, has committed suicide. He took an old musket that was broken in two, tied the stock and the barrel together with a handkerchief and loaded it with shot. He then placed a pitchfork handle against the trigger, put the barrel between his eyes and pressed the pitchfork with his foot, literally blowing the top of his head off.

New Bank at Hoisington.

HOISINGTON, June 2.—A new bank was authorized to commence business in this city under the laws of Kansas and began business with a paid up capital of $6,000. J. W. Briedenthal, state bank commissioner, made the examinations required by law. This gives our city two banking institutions, good and solid.

West Point Cadetship.

ATCHISON, June 2.—Albert Bittman of Louisville, Kan., made the best average at the competitive examination of candidates for a West Point cadetship held here a few days ago. James Boyle of Boyle, Kan., made the second highest average.

SEVENTEEN SPEECHES.

Made by Republican Candidates at the Tennessee Meeting Last Night.

There was a big crowd at the Third ward political meeting held in Tennessee town last night. Like all meetings held in that part of the city it was a Republican meeting, and seventeen Republican candidates for county and legislative offices were present and made short speeches. The Dispatch band was present and furnished music, which was appreciated by everybody there.

W. D. Woodall called the meeting and he is enjoying the credit of the success of the affair.

John Pattison presided and B. Polk was secretary of the meeting.

A WALL OF WOE.

Government Employees Being Discharged by Hundreds.

Work is Cut Down and Departments Consolidated.

MANY CHANGES MADE.

The Gayeties of Life Go On Just the Same.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—[Special.]—The wall of woe rises on all sides, for the end of the fiscal year approaches, work is being cut down and departments consolidated, and government employees are discharged by scores and hundreds. First went 700 at one sweep out of the government printing office, and there was pause for a few days, but it is now understood that at least 800 more must go, and those among the lesser clerks. Ten days ago Secretary Lamont announced that many changes must be made in the war department at least as early as the 1st of July, but a few days later he decided that the change might as well begin now and give the men time to secure other employment. Their pay, however, will not cease until the end of this fiscal year. All the reduction is quite legitimate and only what has been foreseen for some time, for the work of the record and pension office is about completed, while that of compiling the record of the rebellion is well under way, and the appropriations for it are cut down so as to necessitate a large reduction in the clerical force.

The Civil Service Commission.

In anticipation of this change many clerks with first class standing have secured transfers to other departments, which relieved those departments of any necessity of drawing on the civil service commission, and that in its turn has added to the buzz in the house over this much belabored body. In the quarter-master general's office the following branches are to be consolidated: The finance with the contract supply branch, the clothing accounts with the clothing supply branch, the barracks and quarters with the draftsman's branch, the transportation with the account branch and the inspection with the record and files branch. The 11 branches in the adjutant general's office will be consolidated into four, and the departments generally the work will, as alleged, be greatly simplified and the force reduced.

In the department of agriculture there were when Secretary Morton took office 3,479 employees and one year later but 1,849, a reduction of 64 per cent. In that part of the work confined to this city 750 persons were employed on March 4, 1893, where at present are only 558, the reduction in the pay roll amounting to nearly $6,000 monthly. Colonel Carroll D. Wright has also given out that the work of the census will be completed by July 1, except tabulation of the vital statistics with population and the figures on farms and mortgages. These will be completed during July, and only a few persons will be required after that for proofreading and revision, so at least 300 employees of that bureau will go out at the end of the fiscal year and several more in July.

Cheerful All Around.

In the office of the supervising architect of the treasury there will also be a general overhauling with some consolidation of branches, the abolition of two divisions, a reduction of annual salaries by some $30,000 and a discharge of many employees. The experts who examined and reported on this office are the same who made the report in the offices of the commissioner of customs, second comptroller and sixth auditor for the Dockery commission, and the reductions made in those offices aggregated 187 employees and $200,000 in salary. Adding these in the architect's office, the fiscal year shows a reduction of 177 in the force of the treasury department and $330,000 in salaries.

In the pension office the reduction is expected to be slow and continuous for some time, and there will, of course, be the usual spitting in and out of congress over this for there is no senator who made in which the political changes are watched with such sleepless jealousy. It may therefore interest the public to know that this week closes with 266 Democrats, 1,180 Republicans and 421 ladies in the classified service of this office, and that since Judge Lochren's change there have been 89 dismissals "for cause." Adding the chief officials who come and go with the party in power and a few scrubbers—boys and others without politics—there are 2,009 names borne on the rolls. Of the principal examiners throughout the country a whole 32 are Democrats and 48 Republicans. All this shows that in this one office at least some reform has come to stay, and the tenure of the employee is a little better, if any odds, than that of an employee in the average business establishment. Incidentally it may be added that on the 16th of civil service commission will hold an examination for a list of eligibles for the positions of superintendents of stations, fish culturists, messengers and statistical file agents in the fish commission. In addition to the ordinary branches of knowledge, the candidate will have to stand an examination in bookkeeping and fish culture, so a great rush is anticipated.

Yet the Gayeties Still Go On.

Although there are walls of woe, as aforesaid, and every Washington boarding house has some sad occupants, the gayeties of life go on so far as is consistent with the season. Mrs. Cleveland and the children returned a few days ago, and it is now given out by authority that they will remain at their suburban home till congress adjourns before going to Gray Gables, which is understood to imply that the president looks for an early adjournment. What is given out as the last distinctively diplomatic function—incidentally also a patriotic one—was that held at the Argentine legation by Minister and Senora Zeballos in celebration of the eighty-fourth anniversary of the revolution which led to the independence of the Argentine Republic. The floral display is thought to have been by far the finest of the season, and, in addition to all the ladies and gentlemen of the diplomatic corps now in the city, most of the ladies of the cabinet and many of the senators' wives and daughters were present, besides others of eminence. If anybody is interested in the people at the other extreme of society, suffice it to add that the latest information represents Coxey's army as reduced to great straits in their camp just northeast of the District, living on dry bread and black coffee, but still resolute to remain till their leader gives the word go, while said leader, with Jones and Browne, is enjoying himself in the District just to an extent that is quite remarkable.

BOTKIN A CANDIDATE.

The Wellington Preacher May Contest Honors With Governor Leavelle.

The Wichita Beacon is authority for the statement that Rev. J. D. Botkin, of Wellington, is a candidate for the Populist nomination for governor. The Beacon says Rev. Mr. Botkin has been a candidate for some time, but has been making a still hunt.

Since G. W. McKay received the letter from Governor Leavelle, in which Lorenzo wished that "the cup might pass from him," Botkin's friends have been doing what they can to bring it to pass. Rev. Mr. Botkin is also talked of for the party prohibition nomination for governor, and if nominated by the Populists would also no doubt be nominated by the prohibitionists, which would be fusion from an unlooked for source.

Gov. Glick's House Entered.

Says the Atchison Globe: Before Jim Orr went to Lincoln last night, he told Chief White that the women folks at Governor Glick's residence had been frightened by the story that there was a fire-bug in North Atchison, and asked him to have an officer keep an eye on the place until morning. The request was complied with, and the officer especially commissioned to guard that part of town, watched the Glick house. When the cook went to the refrigerator in the summer kitchen this morning, she found that it had been robbed.
